Kool Relief Packs

The Kool Relief Pack can be used to cool down the body in extreme heat conditions. The Kool Relief Pack can also be used to relieve muscle soreness, neck aches, headaches and injuries.

With other instant ice packs, you use them once and then throw them away. With Kool Relief™, you use it first as an Instant Cold Compress, and then refreeze!

The chemical contents will reconstitute in the freezer into a flexible slurry (allowing the compress to conform to the injured part of the body) which will attain a low temperature of - 4° Celsius, and "keep its cool" for up to 30 minutes. The Kool Relief™ can be re-frozen numerous times in the freezer compartment of a refrigerator and continue to provide a ready-to-use therapeutic ice pack straight out of the freezer dropping to - 8° Celsius.

- It's easy to use - squeeze, shake and apply
- Convenient - take it anywhere with you and use it when you need to.
- Excellent aid for - neck aches, sore shoulders, headaches, bruises and sprains.
- Retains heat for up to two hours when insulated against the body
